ERREPI is an artisanal company family owned, incorporated in 1972. Since the beginning our activity is focused on shearing and pressing of ferrous and non ferrous materials . The experience matured in over 30 years and the updating of the equipments and production processes make our company the realiable partner for Customers from several industrial sectors who send us their request or entrusting us to solve any kind of manufacturing problem .

Starting from customer drawing or project, we study and realise the necessary toolings to manufacture the parts required.

The manufactured component is delivered to customer complete with heating or surface treatments (if required) supplied by external certified companies .

The reduced managing and production costs of an artisanal company such as our company don't limitate the quality of the production process which is our main carachteristic.
